New Holland Man Is Killed In Crash near Williamsport

DRIVER KILLED — Roy Franklin Boyd, 34, New Holland, was killed early Sunday morning when he lost control of his car, striking a tree on the edge of the Chillicothe-Williamsport Road one-half mile north of Williamsport. He was by himself when the accident occurred.

A New Holland man became Pickaway County's 21st traffic fatality of the year early Saturday morning when he died of massive chest and head injuries sustained in a one car crash.

Roy Franklin Boyd, 34, 130 N. Main St., New Holland, was pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital. The accident occurred between 12:30 and 1:30 a.m. Saturday on the Chillicothe-Williamsport Road one-half mile north of Williamsport.

Boyd was by himself when the fatal mishap happened. The accident was reported to the Pickaway County Sheriff's office by Douglas Steck of Williamsport, who discovered the wrecked car at 1:30 a.m.

The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Warren Straley. He noted the motor of the car had cooled down when he arrived at the scene.

BOYD'S car apparently went off the right side of the road, traveling 310 feet in the grass. It grazed a utility pole, careened partially back onto the road going another 110 feet before striking a large tree head on. The car was demolished. Authorities believe Boyd was going sister's home about a mile from the scene of the wreck when it occurred.

Soviet-U.S. Air Talks Set

MOSCOW (AP) — A new Soviet IL62 jet airliner left today on its first flight to the United States. Aboard were officials to discuss a regular New York-Moscow airline service.

The group headed by Dmitry I. Petrov, inspector-general of civil aviation, will begin technical talks in Washington Tuesday. A spokesman for the Ministry of Civil Aviation said the group expects to fly back to Moscow by the end of the week.

An agreement for the first direct air service between the United States and the Soviet Union was signed a year ago.

Two earlier technical sessions have been held and now the route can be opened "fairly soon," the U.S. State Department has said.

The IL62, whose four jet engines are mounted on the tail like the British VC10, has recently begun flying to Montreal, New Delhi and Rome. It must now obtain an American certificate of airworthiness and pass noise level tests at New York's Kennedy Airport.

Born Jan. 30, 1933, in Columbus, he was the son of William and Lucretia Puckett Boyd.

He is survived by two brothers, William of Columbus, and Carl of New Holland; seven sisters, Mrs. Floyd Redding and Mrs. Frank Reymer, both of New Holland; Mrs. Donald Bell, Youngstown; Mrs. William Shull and Mrs. Harry Shull, both of Williamsport; Mrs. Donald Seaton, Darbyville; Mrs. Larry Goble, Grove City; and step-father, Melvin Thompson, Grove City.

Services will be 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Church of Christ in Christian Union, New Holland, with the Rev. Gerald Knisley officiating. Burial will be in New Holland Cemetery.

Friends may call at Kirkpatrick Funeral Home beginning 2 p.m. Monday.

Deadly Fumes Kill 3 in Akron Motel

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Carbon monoxide fumes killed three guests, including a bridegroom, during the weekend at the plush Yankee Clipper Inn near here. Sixty others needed hospital treatment.

Thirty-two ambulances carried the stricken to hospitals Saturday night and early Sunday from the seven-story, 210-room motel near here.

Dead on arrival at hospitals were Bruce Plagman, 22, of Cleveland, who was married Saturday afternoon; Betty Ann Bishop, 50, a dance school owner, and her sister Mary Bishop, 56, a registered nurse both of Elyria, Ohio.

Five persons, including three policemen and Plagman's bride, were kept in hospitals through Sunday night.

A faulty burner on a swimming pool heater caused a vent to clog, and deadly, odorless carbon monoxide fumes wafted through the ventilating system of the inn Fire Chief Robert M. Wright of Boston Heights said.

Doctors who took blood tests of persons brought to a hospital confirmed that guests were stricken with carbon monoxide poisoning.

A Summit County deputy sheriff, Norman Smith, said he and Boston Heights Police Chief Wallace Boers found the cause of the gas about 2 a.m. Sunday, some two hours after the first ambulances were called.

The tragedy was one of a series of misfortunes for the Yankee Clipper, which was built at a cost of $4.1 million and opened in July, 1965.

Reach Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tentative agreement is reported in the two-month-old strike of the AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians against American Broadcasting Co.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announced negotiators for both sides reached agreement Sunday.

it was involved in financial difficulties and after its opening needed months of litigation to get a night-club liquor permit. It had to be sold at auction and a year ago was put in receivership by the U.S. District Court in Cleveland.

The Central States Pension Fund of the Teamsters Union has $1.9 million invested in the plush inn, which for a time featured big-name entertainers and last summer was the headquarters for the Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

Stokes Picks
Negro Judge
As No. 2 Man

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes today announced the appointment of Municipal Judge Paul White to the city's No. 2 post of law director.

White, a Negro, is a long-time friend of Stokes.

The post of finance director went to Dorward Witzke, 58-year-old president of Arlington Associates, a financial management organization. He was for two years executive director of Cleveland's "Little Hoover" commission.

Stokes said he had chosen the 50-year-old White for the law director's post because he said it was important to have "a man of integrity who had been tested by the electorate" in the position.

He said he had considered that the post of law director should be filled by a man who could succeed as mayor if the necessity arose.

Witzke said he would make it his "mission" to put into effect all recommendations of the Little Hoover Commission as soon as possible. The commission presented a series of 525 recommendations—some of them controversial—to former Mayor Ralph S. Locher after studying ways to streamline and improve the city's government and services.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon led both by a wide margin.

Nixon, who is expected to announce his candidacy early next year, was shown by the Gallup poll to be the choice of 42 per cent of the GOP rank and file polled—followed by Rockefeller, 15 per cent; Romney, 14; Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, 13; Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, 5; and Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Mayor John V.

Lindsay of New York City, each 3 per cent.

The poll was taken before Romney's announcement of candidacy, a step his backers view as likely to polarize support for the Michigan governor.

Romney, who declared his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination Saturday with a pledge to lead this country out of the Vietnam war, said Sunday that neutralizing

Health Crisis Faces Nation, Group Reports

Costs Shoot Up,
Quality Spotty,
Commission Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission warned today a national health crisis may "be upon us now or just around the corner."

Already, it said, the system of caring for America's health is in a state of crisis, with costs rising far faster than living expenses and gaps apparent in the quality and distribution of services.

The commission questioned whether the country is getting its money's worth from the increasing billions going into health care since there has been only a small gain in life expectancy. It suggested health might be improved more by comparable expenditures in such areas as sanitation, education and better housing.

Among more than 50 curatives for current problems, the commission prescribed:

—For doctors, dentists and other professionals: Periodic examinations for renewal of their licenses as a prod to keep up their skills and knowledge and to discourage "unnecessary or overly expensive tests and treatments" on the part of some. The commission listed reviews by peers or associates as one of its most important recommendations.

—For hospitals: Financial rewards for efficiency and quality care so the better ones might expand and prosper and the worse ones go out of business.

—Federal financial help to medical and dental schools to improve quality and expand enrollment. Loans to students covering full tuition and living costs, repayable over a period of years or in two years' time given to a national service other than Selective Service.

—Highest priority for improving health care of disadvantaged persons.

President Johnson named the 15-man commission last May. He asked it to recommend ways of improving the availability and use of health manpower. Representatives of labor, finance, education, industry, hospitals, medicine and the press served under the chairmanship of J. Irwin Miller chairman of the Board of Cummins Engine Co., Inc., Columbus, Ind.

Release Letter
By Bonhoeffer

NEW YORK (AP) — Union Theological Seminary is publishing today previously undisclosed letters written in prison to the martyred German theologian, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, to his fiancée.

The fiancée, now Mrs. Maria von Wedemeyer-Weller, has lived anonymously in this country since 1948. She is divorced and lives near Boston with her two sons and a step-daughter.

The excerpts from eight of 38 deeply personal letters are contained in an article she wrote about Bonhoeffer in the new issue of the student-edited Union Seminary quarterly Review.

Most of the prison letters were smuggled out by a friendly guard.

Bonhoeffer, a Protestant leader, was executed by the Nazis for his role in a plot to kill Adolf Hitler.

The House voted for a boost of at least 12½ per cent in benefits and a $50 minimum.

On the tax side, the big difference between the two versions is in the eventual wage base on which the payroll levies would be paid.

The House voted to boost the base to $7,600 a year from the present $6,600. The Senate Finance Committee plan would raise the base to $8,000 next year and eventually to $10,800 in 1972.

Chlorine Gas in Derailment Brings Evacuation of Town

NEWTON, Ala. (AP) — Busloads of residents darted back to their homes for a few minutes Sunday night to grab clothing, keepsakes and pets under a threat of the escape of 100,000 gallons of deadly chlorine gas.

A state agent said officials lowered barricades briefly to send in four busloads, limited to one member of a household.

He said more than 100 persons were allowed to brave the danger to bring out items essential for a second night away from home for nearly 3,000 persons who fled Saturday after a 49-car freight train derailed and caught fire. Two boys were reported missing after the evacuation.

Skeet Pate, an Alabama Department of Public Safety agent, said six tankers of ammonia were burning near tankers loaded with propane and a tanker of chlorine gas.

He said the outer hull of the double-walled chlorine tanker was cracked.

The fires were being contained by civilian firefighters and units from nearby Ft. Rucker, Pate said, but added that flames continued to erupt occasionally throughout the rubble of the Seaboard Coast Line freight train.

Pate said, "They can't tow that thing because there's 100,000 gallons of chlorine in there."

Pate said railroad workers might try to run a spur track to the tanker, running in another tanker to transfer the gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bankston, who are among the evacuees, said they had been unable to locate their sons, Joe, 16, and Bobby, 13 since they went to a movie at Enterprise Saturday, promising to be home by midnight.

"Police apparently are too tied up with everything else to look for my boys," Mrs. Bankston said. She and her husband, a civilian worker at Ft. Rucker, have been staying at the Ozark Community Center.

Police said a broken rail apparently caused the pileup of 49 of the freight's 110 cars.

Heavy Losses Feared Among Americans

Relief Force
Finally Reaches
Besieged Troops

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese regulars surrounded a U.S. paratrooper battalion on a hill near the Cambodian border in South Vietnam's central highlands today and with heavy ground assaults and mortar attacks apparently inflicted heavy casualties. An American relief force reached the scene at dusk.

The battalion of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade was cut off for 24 hours before the reinforcements arrived to break the Communist attack and bring out dead and wounded. Heavy enemy ground fire kept rescue helicopters away.

Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from Dak To, about 15 miles from the fighting, the heavy communist fire set off a huge explosion inside the U.S. perimeter, possibly causing heavy casualties. It could not be determined immediately what caused the blast.

The fighting, perhaps the most vicious yet in the highlands campaign, came as U.S. planes bombed the Hanoi-Haiphong area for the fifth straight day on Sunday. The attacks included blows against the fifth and sixth targets to come off the Pentagon's restricted list in four days. They are a concrete plan

A temporary lay-off of employees was announced today by General Electric's Circleville Lamp Plant.

E. G. Grigg, plant manager, commented that the lay-off is due to the plant's present low level of orders. The lay-off will affect less than five per cent of the plant's employees.

The plant will also be shut down both Thanksgiving day and Friday. Operations will resume on Monday.

Congressmen
May Stay
On the Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said today Congress may have to drop its mid-December adjournment goal and remain in session to act on a tax increase because of Britain's devaluation of the pound.

"Much as I hate to say so, much as I abhor the possibility, I think the welfare of the country and the stability of the dollar comes before any adjournment plans," the Montana Democrat said.

Mansfield told newsmen that could mean a nonstop 90th Congress with no extended recess between the first and second sessions.

President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal is stalled in the House Ways and Means Committee, and Mansfield had conceded earlier it appeared likely to remain there.

Buckeye Trade Mission Praised

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Success of Ohio's recent South American trade mission has encouraged plans for the largest trade fair ever conducted by a state, the state development director said today.

Fred Nuenschwander referred to Ohio's Tokyo fair scheduled next year from Feb. 28-March 8.

The 23,000-mile South American tour, he said, was more successful than earlier missions to Europe and the Far East.

Although business generated will not be known for about six months, Nuenschwander predicted that exports of Ohio products to South America will surpass the $30-million total signed by the European trade mission and $40 million during the Asian trade mission.

Romney's in Race, but Rocky's Getting Support

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. George Romney of Michigan has plunged into the Republican presidential nomination race but a chief backer— who continues to spurn the swim—keeps getting endorsements.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who hailed Romney's Saturday announcement of candidacy and has repeatedly said he's not interested in the GOP nomination, won praise Sunday from veteran political columnist Walter Lippmann.

"I think the man who ought to be president next is Rockefeller," said Lippmann. He went on to call the New Yorker "the ablest candidate in either party for dealing with our internal affairs."

Romney also trailed Rockefeller in a Gallup preference poll of Republicans—but former

Vice President Richard M. Nixon led both by a wide margin.

Both California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Mark O. Hatfield said it was too early for them to support Romney or anyone else, although Hatfield said Romney and Percy were attractive candidates who offered alternatives to the Johnson administration policy in Vietnam.

John Bailey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, suggested that Romney start his campaign with a series of debates with himself "since he has been on both sides of every issue."

Janet L. Esposito, 33, Middletown, was seriously injured in a one-car crash on Route 22 just west of Williamsport 2:55 p. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Esposito suffered a mild brain concussion, skull contusions, an injury to the right shoulder, abrasions and lacerations of the arm and left leg and severe lacerations of the right leg.

Thanksgiving in the USA Was Never Like This!

HARVEST CELEBRATION—Each year on the first weekend in October, Lugano, in the Italian-speaking southern section of Switzerland, celebrates its grape harvest with a festival which includes flower-bedecked floats.

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans aren't the only people with a day called Thanksgiving. Canada and Japan have one too and many other countries in the world celebrate similar occasions.

An English vicar once said: "Thankfulness is the rent we pay God for living on this wonderful earth." And for centuries people have been giving thanks for their blessings around harvest time.

The American Thanksgiving, first observed by the Pilgrims in 1621, is a religious day to thank the Lord for good things the past year has brought. It is also a day of family reunions, big dinners and festivities.

Canada holds its Thanksgiving on the second Monday in October, while representatives of Latin American countries in Washington observe Pan-American Thanksgiving day, first celebrated in 1909. Although it has taken place on the same day as the American Thanksgiving, now a special Mass is celebrated on a Sunday preceding U. S. Thanksgiving.

Nov. 23 is Thanksgiving in Japan. The Japanese eat heartily and offer thanks to the legendary hero Prince Ninigi. The occasion is especially celebrated among the farmers who bring in a harvest, make the new wine and depend on Ninigi for abundant crops.

The Swiss observe the Monday preceding the last Thursday of November by bringing their onion harvest to the capital city of Bern. Farmers set up stalls and sell their goods. Later there is a big parade through the town.

Across Eurasia, gypsies celebrate the collection of the grapes by holding a week-long festival. When the vines have been plucked clean, the party begins. The gypsies dance to violins and tambourines and feast on wild fowl, goulash and other dishes.

On the island of Sardinia, off the Italian coast, the Feast of the Redeemer takes place the last week of August, which marks the end of the harvest season. The people give thanks for the year's crops in a religious ceremony. A few days later, the hunting season begins.

At harvest time in India's Punjab State, natives dance the "Bhangra." In the dance, men carry long wooden sticks and wear brightly studded jackets. In southern Germany and Bavaria—the end of the harvest season and the beginning of the hunting season is marked by the Redentore festival. People wear fancy dress and perform folk dances which date from the 13th and 14th centuries.

Catholics throughout Europe celebrate Nov. 11 as Saint Martin's Day in honor of Saint Martin of Tours who once shared his cloak with a beggar. He generally is considered to be patron of the harvest. His day coincides with an ancient feast of Dionysus.

Germans call the day Martinsfest and invite their neighbors to share their table.

In Denmark, the people call the occasion Mortensaften, Saint Martin's Eve, because it comes on Nov. 10. When the crops are gathered and the geese fat, Mortensaften is celebrated with family dinners.

La Saint Martin is Saint Martin's Day in France. It is marked by gaiety and feasting on harvest foods such as roast goose and the new wines. Also in France, from September through October, grape and wine festivals are celebrated in various provinces in honor of the new wines.

In Italy, the day of San Martino is observed with the traditional tasting of the new wine. The Italians believe Saint Martin shared his cloak with a poor drunkard. Therefore, the day is celebrated in Italy by all lovers of wine.

The Dutch believe the traditional Sint Maarten feast originated in Roman times when the goose was sacrificed annually as a thankful offering for the harvest.

In Portugal, the widely celebrated Feast of Sao Martinho is marked by the guzzling of red Portuguese wine, chestnuts roasted over flaming embers and the slaughter of a pig.

Marten Gas, Martin's Goose Day in Sweden, is highlighted by the family feasting on a luscious roast goose from the province of Skane, famous for its geese. In some northern provinces, strumming, a fermented delicacy made from mall Baltic herring, is the culinary delight of the season.

In England, there are harvest festivals of thanksgiving throughout the country. The time varies from August to mid-October, depending on local harvest conditions. Churches are decorated with fruits and vegetables characterizing the harvest and services are held to give thanks to the Lord.

These thanksgivings take place around harvest time and are celebrated with festive meals. Throughout history, there have been occasions of giving thanks. When the Pilgrims settled in America, it was only natural that they continue the tradition.

and a barge yard near Hanoi. The U. S. Command announced the loss of four planes, bringing the total number of losses over the North to 749 aircraft. The four planes carried six crewmen, all of whom are missing.

The belief grew among American commanders that the Communists at Dak To are trying to do what they achieved earlier this year just below the demilitarized zone—draw large American forces away from thickly populated areas and pin them down in the sparsely settled mountains.

Some 6,000 Americans and 1,000 South Vietnamese now are at Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, opposing an estimated 6,000 to 8,000 North Vietnamese.

North Vietnamese soldiers dug in on a hill 14 miles southwest of Dak To killed 40 paratroopers of the U. S. 173rd Airborne Brigade and wounded 42 in an all-day battle Sunday. The paratroopers swept the battlefield today but there was no immediate report of how many enemy bodies they found.

Field reports told of three clashes within 800 yards of each other.

The North Vietnamese broke contact after seven hours under a heavy bombardment by U. S. fighter-bombers and artillery.

Elsewhere in the area, two U. S. 4th Infantry Division companies fought four miles south of Dak To and the South Vietnamese reported a victory Saturday on Hill 1416, five miles northeast of the Dak To airstrip.

The 4th Division reported three U. S. infantrymen and seven North Vietnamese soldiers killed, and 12 Americans wounded. The South Vietnamese said their paratroopers and U. S. planes killed 390 North Vietnamese regulars on Hill 1416.

With the U. S. Command reporting 868 enemy soldiers killed in the Dak To campaign, this brought the claimed total of Communist dead to more than 1,200 in the campaign. American casualties of 197 killed and 730 wounded have been reported, while the battle for Hill 1416 cost the South Vietnamese 32 killed and 153 wounded.

Strikes Slow U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strikes, the Commerce Department reports, slowed the nation's economy in October and were a leading factor in the smallest gain in personal income recorded in six months.

Personal income rose by $1.6 billion to an annual rate of $636 billion, smallest advance this year except for April's $900 million increase.

Heavy Losses

and a barge yard near Hanoi. The U.S. Command announced the loss of four planes, bringing the total number of losses over the North to 749 aircraft. The four planes carried six crewmen, all of whom are missing.

The belief grew among American commanders that the Communists at Dak To are trying to do what they achieved earlier this year just below the demilitarized zone—draw large American forces away from thickly populated areas and pin them down in the sparsely settled mountains.

Some 6,000 Americans and 1,000 South Vietnamese now are at Dak To. 270 miles north of Saigon, opposing an estimated 6,000 to 8,000 North Vietnamese.

North Vietnamese soldiers dug in on a hill 14 miles southwest of Dak To killed 40 paratroopers of the U. S. 173rd Airborne Brigade and wounded 42 in an all-day battle Sunday. The paratroopers swept the battlefield today but there was no immediate report of how many enemy bodies they found.

Field reports told of three clashes within 800 yards of each other.

The North Vietnamese broke contact after seven hours under a heavy bombardment by U. S. fighter-bombers and artillery.

Elsewhere in the area, two U. S. 4th Infantry Division companies fought four miles south of Dak To and the South Vietnamese reported a victory Saturday on Hill 1416, five miles northeast of the Dak To airstrip.

The 4th Division reported three U.S. infantrymen and seven North Vietnamese soldiers killed, and 12 Americans wounded. The South Vietnamese said their paratroopers and U.S. planes killed 390 North Vietnamese regulars on Hill 1416.

With the U.S. Command reporting 868 enemy soldiers killed in the Dak To campaign, this brought the claimed total of Communist dead to more than 1,200 in the campaign. American casualties of 197 killed and 750 wounded have been reported, while the battle for Hill 1416 cost the South Vietnamese 32 killed and 153 wounded.

Strikes Slow U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strikes, the Commerce Department reports, slowed the nation's economy in October and were a leading factor in the smallest gain in personal income recorded in six months.

Labor disputes were partly to blame for a softening in wages and salaries which in turn accounted for much of the slower rise in income, said the department.

Personal income rose by $1.6 billion to an annual rate of $636 billion, smallest advance this year except for April's $900 million increase.

Brown Proposes Anti-LSD Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to prohibit possession of LSD and other similar hallucinogenic drugs, except by prescription, was proposed today by Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr., R-Ohio.

He is one of two dozen congressmen sponsoring such legislation in an effort to help curb the growing traffic in LSD.

Juvenile Court Hears 7 Cases

George Mumaw, 476 Dearborn Ave., was found guilty in Juvenile Court Friday of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year old girl.

Mumaw was sentenced to six months in county jail, $500 fine and probation for five years by Judge Guy Cline.

Gregg M. Reisinger, 17, Kingston, pleaded guilty to charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone. He was fined $25 and his license was suspended 60 days. Court suspended $20 of the fine.

Dennis Jones, 17, was found guilty of speeding and reckless driving. Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline fined Jones $10 on the first charge and $25 on the second plus suspension of his license for a total of 120 days.

David Winks Jr., 15, of 205 W. Water St., was found guilty of driving without a license. He was fined $25, sentenced to two weekends in detention and ordered not to apply for his driver's license for six months after his 16th birthday.

All of the traffic offenders were ordered to obtain liability insurance and to attend traffic school.

A 15-year-old girl was found guilty of leaving home without the consent of her parents. She has been made a ward of the court until Nov. 18, 1970.

For truancy from school after receiving warnings a 17-year old girl was made a ward of the court for three years.

Speed Limit in the Sky

In what is regarded as the forerunner of other restrictions to come as the skies become more crowded, the Federal Aviation Commission has banned speeds of more than 288 miles an hour for planes flying below 10,000 feet. The ruling will be effective Dec. 15.

The commission hopes this will reduce the number of collisions in the air. If it doesn't, the speed will undoubtedly be lowered.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The devaluation of the pound sterling signals another great "Battle of Britain" and, as in previous military and economic wars, much of it will be fought with the sweat and tears of its ordinary citizens.

As in other wars also, the battle might involve many nations before it is won. And time will be a formidable adversary; Britain must act very fast to capitalize on its currency devaluation.

British workers are "now on their mettle," said Prime Minister Harold Wilson. They must make more good to raise exports to earn money to pay their nation's bills. And they must deny themselves the reward of working harder.

For six straight years Britain has been unable to send more goods abroad than it imported, meaning it was living beyond its means. This diluted the relative value of its currency. Devaluation acknowledged this.

This latest predicament of Britain deeply involves the United States, among many other nations. There are bound now to be suspicions that this country, which also has a balance of payment problem, might devalue the dollar.

Such rumor will be termed ridiculous by monetary officials, but they are far from being absurd. The economies of the world's trading powers are like threats in a fabric; the value of their currencies is in relation to each other.

Sunday's boost in the Federal Reserve lending rate was recognition of this fact; it was proof also that what affects the currency of one trading power—and Britain is the third most important—has immediate effects elsewhere.

In raising from 4 to 4.5 percent the price it charges banks to borrow, the Federal Reserve conceded that investment money could begin to flow from the United States to Britain, attracted by rate increases there.

This, then, is perhaps the most immediate effect of the British action, and it is a very important one, too, for after a delay of weeks or months it likely will exert pressure on all other interest rates.

Such an occurrence could create a serious situation in the U.S. economy. The housing industry for example, is now recovering from a money shortage caused by higher interest rates elsewhere. Another shortage would be intolerable.

There is additional heat from Britain's war that also may be felt here soon. Since Britain's balance of payment, there is likely to be more congressional pressure for the United States to lower its payments deficit.

The two situations are not entirely similar, for the United States does have a trade balance in its favor; that is, it ships more abroad than it imports. But it spends heavily for foreign aid and for a war in Vietnam.

A possible result also in that the United States might make more effective moves toward putting its entire economic house in order. This would mean more pressure than ever for a tax increase to help pay the government's bills.

There is another problem also for the United States in this devaluation, although it is being minimized in official statements. American companies now will find Britain a more formidable competitor and more critical buyer.

British exporters, for example, now will be able to sell their goods at a big discount. This will spur British sale but it may do nothing to spur overall demand; Britain's gain will be at the expense of competing nations.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ON THE SECOND morning of the Israelis' lightning advance across the Sinai Desert, according to Henny Youngman, an Israeli lieutenant caught up with six fleeing Arab soldiers and beat the daylight out of them.

The lieutenant then abandoned them with this parting shot: "It's a lucky thing for the six of you that it wasn't my husband who got you!"

Stephen Birmingham tells of a very rich, very parsimonious old party who had amassed a fantastic and priceless collection of art objects, and was desolate at the thought that some day he'd have to leave them all behind. Then one day he visited a museum where twin tombs flank the entrance to the building that houses the collection another pair of connoisseurs had built up. The very rich old party nodded approvingly at the plaque that bore the names of the pair and whispered softly, "What a way to go!"

Chivalry is not dead on the playing fields of Eton. An etiquette manual circulated among the future students of Oxford in that placid English town includes this reminder: "After a gentleman offers a lady a chair in which he has been sitting, he should engage her in conversation for a few minutes, thus giving the seat time to cool."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there a difference between rheumatism and arthritis?

Although they are technically different, these terms have been used interchangeably by the laity. The physician, however, uses it in its strict medical sense.

Rheumatism applies to acute and chronic conditions associated with stiffness and soreness of the muscles and with pain in the joint and nearby structures.

Actually, this term can include forms of arthritis due to infection, gout or injury. There are many forms of rheumatism that so closely resemble arthritis that from the point of view of the layman the distinction is hardly necessary.

Arthritis is an actual inflammation of the joints accompanied by pain, tenderness and later changes within the joints. Arthritis, too, can be the result of infection, injury or gout.

In both conditions there are perhaps, ten or 15 subdivisions based on the suspected cause, duration, severity and the permanence of the changes within the joints. This diagnosis is made after careful study of the blood and X-rays of the joints.

Physicians take a long, detailed history of illnesses in order to establish a link between the patient's complaints and some earlier infection or injury. This history taking, because of its detail, occasionally borrows a patient. Yet it becomes the clue to the proper direction to proceed for the diagnosis, treatment and control of various forms of rheumatism or arthritis.

Can a large swelling in the neck be responsible for an overactive thyroid?

There are a number of different abnormalities of the thyroid gland. All of them may have some slight or moderate enlargement of the front of the neck just below the Adam's apple. This is exactly where the thyroid lies. The thyroid gland has two wings, or lobes, on either side of the midline of the neck.

A large swelling of the gland is usually a colloid goiter which actually does not cause overactivity of the thyroid gland. This swelling is seen most often in inland areas in America and Switzerland, especially where there is very little iodine in the water. Fortunately, this condition exists less frequently now since iodine is added to salt and to water when the area of any country is known to be deficient in it.

Overactivity of the thyroid is called hyperthyroidism. In this condition the swelling may be barely perceptible even though the thyroid is overworking. In this kind of gland there is an over-secretion of the thyroid hormone.

This is responsible for a rapid pulse, nervousness, irritability and general sense of weakness. Unless controlled, overactivity of the thyroid can produce profuse sweating, tremors of the hands and occasionally bulging of the eyes. Notice that all of these symptoms resemble the picture of one who has just "run a race."

The purpose of this analogy is to show that excess thyroid secretion steps up the general functioning or metabolism of the body and makes it "run a race against itself." Many new tests are now available for the quick diagnosis and treatment of thyroid disease.

Boric acid, once used extensively, is now found to be dangerous to children. There is no need for its present use in powder or solution.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — You never hear anyone bad mouthing Rosalind Russell.

This is unusual because she is one of those rare women who have beauty, brains and a heart — and other human beings sometimes find it difficult to put up with anyone that gifted.

An actress with a sense of humor as engaging as her dramatic talents, she seemed amused the other day when asked how she could explain her own enduring popularity.

"Well, if people like me," she said lightly, "it must be because I like people—all kinds of people. I come from a large family."

As a slender somewhat tomboyish young girl back in her home town, Watertown, Conn., where her mother had been a schoolteacher and her father a well-known trial lawyer, Roz dreamed of a career on stage and screen.

Now at age 54, some 30 years a star, the list of her achievements is awesome.

She has made 48 films—the latest is Universal's "Rosie"—in which she played 20 different types of career women, ranging from a mother superior to a judge. Her memorable portrayals include those of "Sister Kenny" and "Auntie Mame."

She has received 97 awards and citations, including three nominations for an Oscar, and election by the Costume Designers Guild to its Hall of Fame of "all-time best dressed women."

Generous with both her time and money, Miss Russell has participated in some 75 civic and philanthropic activities.

Through it all she has avoided any taint of smugness or stuffiness. She is still frank, friendly, warm-hearted and merry of spirit.

"I really love to laugh," she said. "People don't laugh enough, and they should. After all, it takes so much more energy to be angry and pan things."

"My biggest problem is time, as it is with most anyone. That's what we are all really looking for, more time to try everything."

"My philosophy can be summed up in one of the phrases Auntie Mame used:

"Life is a banquet, and most poor suckers are starving to death."

These are things Roz likes: "My country, I'm terribly pro-America—white picket fences in front of a house—collecting rocks. I must have at least a ton of Quartz—vegetarian meals—my religion—work-home and the unity of the family. I've been to a lot of parties and places, but never had more fun than in my own home with my husband and son."

And here are Miss Russell's dislikes:

"What frustrates me is indifference, indifference, and the general attitude of noncaring. I also don't like people who use personal shyness as an excuse for not doing things. We're all shy, but we ought to give the other fellow a break. He may be shy, too."

"I also dislike tardiness. Your whole life can be changed by getting up half an hour early. That's why God gave us the period from 5 to 7 a.m.—so we could get up and beat the traffic."

'68 Campaign Draws Closer

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The 1968 campaign grows closer, and if nothing is done about it before the conventions we could be in for a weary charade topped off with charge that the TV pundits, armed with the lightning calculations of the computer, are spoilers who change the final results by setting up a bandwagon psychology in the western states through forecasts based on the early-foot vote on the Atlantic seaboard.

TV gets the blame for a lot of things that happen during a campaign, but Congress, if it were so minded, could clear the situation up with a couple of reforms that the broadcasting companies' executives would welcome. There is the matter of the length of the campaign, for example. As Frank Stanton, the Columbia Broadcasting Company's President, points out, the traditional two-to-three-month campaign span was originally an accommodation to whistle-stop requirements. The candidates had to show their faces to the people, and the only way they could do it was to hit the rails. In pre-radio days they could afford to replay old speech material in city after city, for Walla Walla would not have heard what was said the night before in Boise. The candidates avoided boring themselves by seeking out the local angle.

The electronic age changes all this. The candidate whose face seemed fresh on TV in September looks like a tired old hack by November to people who have seen his fatigued and fatiguing countenance again and again. And the necessity of coming up with a different speech for nationwide television each time inevitably thins out the material and exhausts the issues.

All this could be avoided if campaigns were to be shortened to six weeks, with local appearances cut to a minimum. The TV Presidential debate, which so enlivened the Kennedy-Nixon campaign of 1960 could bring issues and faces to seventy-five or a hundred million at a clip. Everything could be short and snappy, and the eligible voters would not lose their enthusiasm about going to the polls on election day.

What stands in the way of a truly modern campaign are some laws that date back a generation. First of all, there is the "equal time" fetish, as fixed by the rule that the Prohibition and the Socialist Labor candidates, among other minority characters, are entitled to as much TV exposure as the Democratic and Republican candidates.

The result of this absurdity is either irrelevance or a limitation of debate. In 1960 a joint Congressional resolution cleared the way for the Nixon-Kennedy debates. But the resolution was good for one year only. In 1964 Congress did nothing, so there was never any possibility of a running confrontation between Johnson and Goldwater.

Since Lyndon Johnson likes to make the whistle stops, enjoys pumping hands, and does not relish direct confrontations with his opponent, there will probably be no move from the White House to change the "equal time" section of the Communications Act of 1934. LBJ prefers the pre-TV age for himself, even though TV in Texas has made him wealthy. But Congress, which is not in LBJ's pocket, could act on its own. If the basic law were once altered to permit unlimited debates between major candidates, could one of them turn down a challenge from the other without taking on a faintly yellow coloration?

After adherence to the old traditions has dragged out a campaign and bored the voters unmercifully, the electronics age has a chance to come into its own on election day. Alas, it gets no credit with some for its marvels of quick reporting. By modern computer-aided "vote profile analysis," which enables the newscasters to make projections at an early hour that stand up remarkably well, the electronics age delivers the important victory news to the world long before the polls have actually closed. The complaint is that the early projections based on eastern "profiles" can effect the later voting, particularly as the sun moves to the Far West and the polls open and close on a different schedule in Utah and California. To counter this criticism, Frank Stanton of CBS has proposed a uniform, simultaneous nation-wide 24-hour voting day in the years of federal elections.

Well, why not? Regardless of whether electronic "profile" analysis affects elections, we need more time for voting anyway. The cost of poll-watching on a 24-hour basis might rise, but we could end the disgrace of elections in which only 60 percent of the eligible voters value their franchise enough to vote in a Presidential year.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Sunday night generally is a pretty good evening for comfortable television viewing. There is a considerable variety of programs and a number of the programs are old familiar friends.

"Bonanza," for instance, is nine years old and going strong. It is still definitely a hit show, but with recent competition, its ratings have slipped a little.

There's nothing like a ratings slip to make for change, and Sunday night there was a distinct change of scenery and approach. The location was the logging part of the Cartwright empire on Lake Tahoe—we didn't even know Ben and the boys had a logging operation—and the three stars only showed up for the final shootout.

The story and the action primarily concerned one-shot performers—bad guys planning a big robbery and deciding to steal the Cartwright's logging boat for their getaway.

The scenery was beautiful, the plot moved fast and there was plenty of action.

Another Sunday staple is the CBS "Ed Sullivan Show," and the network plans to reward him for his 20 years of weekly variety programs by renaming the studio—it is really a converted theatre—from which he broadcasts the Ed Sullivan Theatre. The ceremony will take place Dec. 10—on Ed's show, naturally.

In 30 minutes Sunday, Sullivan presented the Supremes, a top singing group; a dance number by the chorus; a trumpet soloist; an Apache dance; a stand-up comedian and a big production number by the Supremes joined by the Temptations.

"PBL" on the educational stations will have difficulty attracting viewers away from the networks' simple entertainment unless the two-hour program can find some way to brighten its corner.

Sunday's show started interestingly enough with a discussion of patriotism. Jumping off from the recent defection of four U.S. Navy men, it pointed out that 200 years ago only a third of our population favored the American Revolution; that soldiers on both sides in the Civil War "deserted in droves" because they did not approve of the fighting. The program moved on to some University of Texas students discussing loyalty.

So far so good, but then the program went on with more discussion. It reprised last week's segment on meat inspection and updated it with interviews. Then it launched into a full hour of Whalther Lippmann discussing current affairs with more students.

Today is Monday, Nov. 20, the 324th day of 1967. There are 41 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, the 24 Nazi leaders went on trial before the International War Crimes Tribunal in Nuernberg, Germany.

On this date: In 1870, German troops surrounded Paris during the Franco-Prussian War.

In 1941, during World War II, General Maxime Weggand yielded command of the French Armies in Africa.

In 1942, the Alaska Highway was formally opened.

In 1944, the Allies captured the French fortress cities of Belfort and Metz in World War II.

In 1947 Princesses Elizabeth of England and Philip Mountbatten, the duke of Edinburgh, were married in London.

Ten years ago—U.S. officials said France appeared to be willing to permit the United States to establish missile bases in France.

Five years ago—President John F. Kennedy ordered the secretary of defense to lift the Naval quarantine of Cuba after the Cuban missile crisis.

Speed Limit in the Sky

In what is regarded as the forerunner of other restrictions to come as the skies become more crowded, the Federal Aviation Commission has banned speeds of more than 238 miles an hour for planes flying below 10,000 feet. The ruling will be effective Dec. 15. The commission hopes this will reduce the number of collisions in the air. If it doesn't, the speed will undoubtedly be lowered.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ON THE SECOND morning of the Israelis' lightning advance across the Sinai Desert, according to Henny Youngman, an Israeli lieutenant caught up with six fleeing Arab soldiers and beat the daylight out of them. The lieutenant then abandoned them with this parting shot: "It's a lucky thing for the six of you that it wasn't my husband who got you!"

Stephen Birmingham tells of a very rich, very parsimonious old party who had amassed a fantastic and priceless collection of art objects, and was desolate at the thought that some day he'd have to leave them all behind. Then one day he visited a museum where twin tombs flank the entrance to the building that houses the collection another pair of connoisseurs had built up. The very rich old party nodded approvingly at the plaque that bore the names of the pair and whispered softly, "What a way to go!"

Chivalry is not dead on the playing fields of Eton. An etiquette manual circulated among the future students of Oxford in that placid English town includes this reminder: "After a gentleman offers a lady a chair in which he has been sitting, he should engage her in conversation for a few minutes, thus giving the seat time to cool."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there a difference between rheumatism and arthritis?

Although they are technically different, these terms have been used interchangeably by the laity. The physician, however, uses it in its strict medical sense.

Rheumatism applies to acute and chronic conditions associated with stiffness and soreness of the muscles and with pain in the joint and nearby structures.

Actually, this term can include forms of arthritis due to infection, gout or injury. There are many forms of rheumatism that so closely resemble arthritis that from the point of view of the layman the distinction is hardly necessary.

Arthritis is an actual inflammation of the joints accompanied by pain, tenderness and later changes within the joints. Arthritis, too, can be the result of infection, injury or gout.

In both conditions there are perhaps, ten or 15 subdivisions based on the suspected cause, duration, severity and the permanence of the changes within the joints. This diagnosis is made after careful study of the blood and X-rays of the joints.

Physicians take a long, detailed history of illnesses in order to establish a link between the patient's complaints and some earlier infection or injury. This history taking, because of its detail, occasionally borrows a patient. Yet it becomes the clue to the proper direction to proceed for the diagnosis, treatment and control of various forms of rheumatism or arthritis.

Can a large swelling in the neck be responsible for an overactive thyroid?

There are a number of different abnormalities of the thyroid gland. All of them may have some slight or moderate enlargement of the front of the neck just below the Adam's apple. This is exactly where the thyroid lies. The thyroid gland has two wings, or lobes, on either side of the midline of the neck.

A large swelling of the gland is usually a colloid goiter which actually does not cause overactivity of the thyroid gland. This swelling is seen most often in inland areas in America and Switzerland, especially where there is very little iodine in the water. Fortunately, this condition exists less frequently now since iodine is added to salt and to water when the area of any country is known to be deficient in it.

Overactivity of the thyroid is called hyperthyroidism. In this condition the swelling may be barely perceptible even though the thyroid is overworking. In this kind of gland there is an over-secretion of the thyroid hormone.

This is responsible for a rapid pulse, nervousness, irritability and general sense of weakness. Unless controlled, overactivity of the thyroid can produce profuse sweating, tremors of the hands and occasionally bulging of the eyes. Notice that all of these symptoms resemble the picture of one who has just "run a race."

The purpose of this analogy is to show that excess thyroid secretion steps up the general functioning or metabolism of the body and makes it "run a race against itself." Many new tests are now available for the quick diagnosis and treatment of thyroid disease.

Boric acid, once used extensively, is now found to be dangerous to children. There is no need for its present use in powder or solution.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — You never hear anyone bad mouthing Rosalind Russell.

This is unusual because she is one of those rare women who have beauty, brains and a heart—and other human beings sometimes find it difficult to put up with anyone that gifted.

An actress with a sense of humor as engaging as her dramatic talents, she seemed amused the other day when asked how she could explain her own enduring popularity.

"Well, if people like me," she said lightly, "it must be because I like people—all kinds of people. I come from a large family."

As a slender somewhat tomboyish young girl back in her home town, Watertown, Conn., where her mother had been a schoolteacher and her father a well-known trial lawyer, Roz dreamed of a career on stage and screen.

Now at age 54, some 30 years a star, the list of her achievements is awesome.

She has made 48 films—the latest is Universal's "Rosie"—in which she played 20 different types of career women, ranging from a mother superior to a judge. Her memorable portrayals include those of "Sister Kenny" and "Auntie Mame."

She has received 97 awards and citations, including three nominations for an Oscar, and election by the Costume Designers Guild to its Hall of Fame of "all-time best dressed women."

Generous with both her time and money, Miss Russell has participated in some 75 civic and philanthropic activities.

Through it all she has avoided any taint of smugness or stuffiness. She is still frank, friendly, warm-hearted and merry of spirit.

"I really love to laugh," she said. "People don't laugh enough, and they should. After all, it takes so much more energy to be angry and pan things."

"My biggest problem is time, as it is with most anyone. That's what we are all really looking for, more time to try everything."

"My philosophy can be summed up in one of the phrases Auntie Mame used:

"Life is a banquet, and most poor suckers are starving to death."

These are things Roz likes: "My country, I'm terribly pro-America—white picket fences in front of a house—collecting rocks. I must have at least a ton of Quartz—vegetarian meals—my religion—work-home and the unity of the family. I've been to a lot of parties and places, but never had more fun than in my own home with my husband and son."

And here are Miss Russell's dislikes:

"What frustrates me is indifference, indifference, and the general attitude of noncaring. I also don't like people who use personal shyness as an excuse for not doing things. We're all shy, but we ought to give the other fellow a break. He may be shy, too."

"I also dislike tardiness. Your whole life can be changed by getting up half an hour early. That's why God gave us the period from 5 to 7 a.m.—so we could get up and beat the traffic."

'68 Campaign Draws Closer

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The 1968 campaign grows closer, and if nothing is done about it before the conventions we could be in for a weary charade topped off with charge that the TV pundits, armed with the lightning calculations of the computer, are spoilers who change the final results by setting up a bandwagon psychology in the western states through forecasts based on the early-foot vote on the Atlantic seaboard.

TV gets the blame for a lot of things that happen during a campaign, but Congress, if it were so minded, could clear the situation up with a couple of reforms that the broadcasting companies' executives would welcome. There is the matter of the length of the campaign, for example. As Frank Stanton, the Columbia Broadcasting Company's President, points out, the traditional two-to-three-month campaign span was originally an accommodation to whistle-stop requirements. The candidates had to show their faces to the people, and the only way they could do it was to hit the rails. In pre-radio days they could afford to replay old speech material in city after city, for Walla Walla would not have heard what was said the night before in Boise. The candidates avoided boring themselves by seeking out the local angle.

The electronic age changes all this. The candidate whose face seemed fresh on TV in September looks like a tired old hack by November to people who have seen his fatigued and fatiguing countenance again and again. And the necessity of coming up with a different speech for nationwide television each time inevitably thins out the material and exhausts the issues.

All this could be avoided if campaigns were to be shortened to six weeks, with local appearances cut to a minimum. The TV Presidential debate, which so enlivened the Kennedy-Nixon campaign of 1960 could bring issues and faces to seventy-five or a hundred million at a clip. Everything could be short and snappy, and the eligible voters would not lose their enthusiasm about going to the polls on election day.

What stands in the way of a truly modern campaign are some laws that date back a generation. First of all, there is the "equal time" fetish, as fixed by the rule that the Prohibition and the Socialist Party candidates, among other minority characters, are entitled to as much TV exposure as the Democratic and Republican candidates.

The result of this absurdity is either irrelevance or a limitation of debate. In 1960 a joint Congressional resolution cleared the way for the Nixon-Kennedy debates. But the resolution was good for one year only. In 1964 Congress did nothing, so there was never any possibility of a running confrontation between Johnson and Goldwater.

Since Lyndon Johnson likes to make the whistle stops, enjoys pumping hands, and does not relish direct confrontations with his opponent, there will probably be no move from the White House to change the "equal time" section of the Communications Act of 1934. LBJ prefers the pre-TV age for himself, even though TV in Texas has made him wealthy. But Congress, which is not in LBJ's pocket, could act on its own. If the basic law were once altered to permit unlimited debates between major candidates, could one of them turn down a challenge from the other without taking on a faintly yellow coloration?

After adherence to the old traditions has dragged out a campaign and bored the voters unmercifully, the electronics age has a chance to come into its own on election day. Alas, it gets no credit with some for its marvels of quick reporting. By modern computer-aided "vote profile analysis," which enables the newscasters to make projections at an early hour that stand up remarkably well, the electronics age delivers the important victory news to the world long before the polls have actually closed. The complaint is that the early projections based on eastern "profiles" can effect the later voting, particularly as the sun moves to the Far West and the polls open and close on a different schedule in Utah and California. To counter this criticism, Frank Stanton of CBS has proposed a uniform, simultaneous nationwide 24-hour voting day in the years of federal elections.

Well, why not? Regardless of whether electronic "profile" analysis affects elections, we need more time for voting anyway. The cost of poll-watching on a 24-hour basis might rise, but we could end the disgrace of elections in which only 60 percent of the eligible voters value their franchise enough to vote in a Presidential year.

John Rhoads Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rhoads Sr. made the saxophone section of the Ohio University marching band. He was a freshman at the university.

Hildeburn Jones, formerly of Circleville, was promoted from assistant manager to manager of the Cincinnati office of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Cecil C. Van Camp announced the opening of the Circleville Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company on N. Court St. at the city limits. Mr. Van Camp was the son of T. D. Van Camp of Williamsport.

Young people of Whisler enjoyed a hay ride followed by a wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Minshall. Their ride was through Kings-ton, Circleville, Tarleton, Laurelville, Adelphi and back to Whisler.

Mr. Minshall and Emerson Miner provided transportation for the group.

Formal opening of the Beaver Portrait Studio at 110 S. Court St., took place. Experienced in all phases of photography, Mr. Beaver specialized in portraiture by photography, weddings and copy work.

While Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliffe drove the car transporting three prisoners to jail, one of the trio placed the sharp blade of a jackknife against his throat. The men, all alleged ex-convicts, had been picked up and charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. All the men attacked the deputy who was able to subdue them and lodge them in jail.

Hoyt Timmons was reelected worthy master of the Logan Elm Grange.

1,000 persons registered when they visited the new L. M. Butch jewelry store. The modern and newly equipped store at 115 W. Main St., was formally opened to the public. Roses were presented to the women and cigars and cigarettes to the men.

The first of a series of bridge parties was given for the benefit of Circleville kindergarten organization. Mothers of young children were seeking to raise funds for a city much-needed kindergarten.

Feature Movie Year

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This out the season. One wonders television season has been widely hailed as the year of the feature movie, but it also has favored the variety shows.

Westerns are being shot down—four so far. Situation comedies are suffering; even "The Flying Nun" took a nosedive in recent ratings. But the song-and-laugh shows have prospered, and the best of the new ones has proved to be Carol Burnett's Monday night outing.

"Yes, I've been lucky to come on when variety shows were on the upswing," she says. "We can thank Dean Martin for that; he made the variety show popular — The Smothers Brothers helped, too."

Carol wasn't so lucky a couple of seasons ago when she tried another variety show, "The Entertainers." "I didn't even last how a star can flop one season and succeed in another . . .

"During the season I was in such pain from my back that I couldn't really care whether the show was renewed or not."

The elements that mitigated against "The Entertainers" have been cured with "The Carol Burnett Show." She is firmly identified with all the proceedings, right from the opening ad lib exchange with the studio audience.

"That was something I found very difficult at first," she said. "I never thought I could work without a script. When I was on Garry Moore's show, he tried to get me to talk with the audience, something he does beautifully. But I was always scared to do it."

"Now I find it easy. We get some great characters in the audience, and they come up with cracks that are funnier than anything we could write."

The Burnett show, produced by her husband Joe Hamilton, places the emphasis on comedy, as opposed to other, music-oriented variety shows. But to preserve her feminine image, Carol has been wearing some stunning gowns.

"That seems to help us with the women viewers," said Carol. "There again, I had to change my thinking. I never liked to wear clothes before—oh, I don't mean I like to walk around naked. I mean I just never thought of myself as a clothes horse. But our designer, Bob Mackie, has come up with some great dresses that are fun to wear."

One reason for the Burnett success is that she gets the most out of her guests, which is something that not all variety show emcees can accomplish. Good example: her show tonight with Martha Raye and Juliet Prowse.

Viet Withdrawal 'Token' at First

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing "very serious manpower problems" among the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, Gen. William C. Westmoreland says a token withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam may be possible within two years.

"We have evidence through our intelligence that the enemy has very serious manpower problems in the South," said the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

But he warned that any phase-out of U.S. troops "may be token at first" and remains conditional on improvement in the South Vietnamese forces.

Westmoreland's statements Sunday confirmed reports of the assessment he gave last week to the House Armed Services Committee.

Give British Mideast Plan Best Chance

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A British resolution seeking a Middle East settlement was given the best chance of adoption among three headed for a vote in the U.N. Security Council today.

Delegates expected that the vote would come late tonight.

The three resolutions all would send a U.N. representative to the Middle East to seek settlement of issues left by the Arab-Israeli war in June, including withdrawal of Israeli troops from territory they seized. But they differ over how he should work and what form the settlement should take as to the Israeli withdrawal from territory seized in the war, an end to Arab belligerency against Israel, the fixing of borders, freedom for Israeli shipping through disputed waterways and solution of the Arab refugee question.

The Arabs consider a U.S. resolution pro-Israeli. The Israelis consider an Indian-Malian-Nigerian resolution pro-Arab.

The British resolution, introduced Thursday 12 days after the others, has been widely hailed as "balanced."

Viet Withdrawal 'Token' at First

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing "very serious manpower problems" among the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, Gen. William C. Westmoreland says a token withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam may be possible within two years.

"We have evidence through our intelligence that the enemy has very serious manpower problems in the South," said the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

But he warned that any phase-out of U.S. troops "may be token at first" and remains conditional on improvement in the South Vietnamese forces.

Westmoreland's statements Sunday confirmed reports of the assessment he gave last week to the House Armed Services Committee.

Solons To Probe County Groups

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state legislature will take a look at county budget commissions which annually distribute about $70 million in state funds to local governments.

"The situation as it exists is utterly ridiculous and, worse, it encourages some fancy high-level cheating," said Sen. Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati.

He said courts prevent the county budget commissions from considering a city's revenues when it decides how much money a local government needs. Maloney also said the law pro-

Give British Mideast Plan Best Chance

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A British resolution seeking a Middle East settlement was given the best chance of adoption among three headed for a vote in the U.N. Security Council today.

Delegates expected that the vote would come late tonight.

The three resolutions all would send a U.N. representative to the Middle East to seek settlement of issues left by the Arab-Israeli war in June, including withdrawal of Israeli troops from territory they seized.

But they differ over how he should work and what form the settlement should take as to the Israeli withdrawal from territory seized in the war, an end to Arab belligerency against Israel, the fixing of borders, freedom for Israeli shipping through disputed waterways and solution of the Arab refugee question.

The Arabs consider a U.S. resolution pro-Israeli.

The Israelis consider an Indian-Malian-Nigerian resolution pro-Arab.

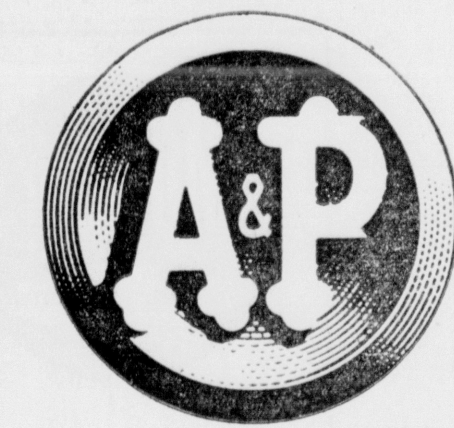

The British resolution, introduced Thursday 12 days after the others, has been widely hailed as "balanced."

By Abigail Van Buren

Pitch Nets No-Sale

DEAR ABBY: Last Friday I bought a diamond engagement ring for my girl. I went into a jewelry store and they tied to sell me a whole lot of things. A ring and a wedding ring to go with it. I didn't want a wedding ring. All I wanted was an engagement ring and I had $1,600 cash on me to buy it.

First let me see what being engaged is like, and if I like it, I'll get married. Maybe I'll decide I don't like it, and don't want to get married. Then what am I going to do with the wedding ring? So, why, when a guy asks to see only an engagement ring, does the salesman look at him like he's some kind of nut?

NO NUT

DEAR NO NUT: "Sets are popular because most couples who become engaged have a wedding date in sight. And since the two rings are worn side by side, they look better if they match. Next time, tell the salesman that you are interested only in an engagement ring, and if he looks at you like you are some kind of nut, ask for the boss. The 'nut' is his salesman.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old, 5' 8" female, engaged to a 22-year-old, 5' 11" male college graduate. This man is kind, handsome and intelligent. I should be very happy, and I am, except for one small problem—my mother. Having married a man 6' 3" with massive shoulders, etc., she insists that my fiancé is a runt and that I am settling for less than a man. She is beginning to get on my nerves and I can't seem to convince her that one does not measure a man's worth in feet and inches. She reads your column every day, so any help you can give me will be appreciated.

DEAR RUTH: If your mother is really "getting on your nerves" for the reason you mention, you have a bigger problem than your mother. It's YOU, and how you react to absurd and foolish remarks intended to needle. Go beyond the remark and try to understand why it was made. Supplant the anger you feel with understanding, and you will soon find fewer things getting on your nerves.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is in love with her new son-in-law. Well, "in love" may be a little strong, but she seems to have trouble keeping her hands off him. "Boobie" (as she calls him) doesn't know how bad it looks. He is 33, mother is 48 (but looks 30), and the whole thing is pretty nauseating. Mother is either sitting on his lap, scratching his back, giving him a neck rub, or begging him to dance with her.

My sister, (Boobie's wife) thinks it's lovely that her husband and her mother get along so well. This could be serious as mother is a swinging divorcee and the plot seems to thicken all the time. What can we do, short of telling Sis to open her eyes and hold on to her husband?

BIG SISTER

DEAR SISTER: You could tell mother to act her age. And you could also tell "Boobie" to be a little less cooperative.

DEAR ABBY: You were so right when you advised "WORRIED NEIGHBOR" to tell her neighbor what her teenage daughters were up to while they were working evenings. I was in exactly the same situation. I knew that the young girl next door was taking advantage of her parents' working nights, but I kept quiet because I didn't want any hard feelings. Now I have a guilty conscience over a hasty wedding and two sets of broken-hearted parents. Perhaps if I had told those parents in a friendly way, I could have headed off the trouble that caused the mess.

MOM'S IN FAST COMPANY

...SINCE SHE GOT A NEW FLAME

Mom's new flame gives her something in common with a pretty exciting crowd—over 90% of all of the professional chefs.

They're all cooking with Gas. For several sound reasons.

Gas cooks faster than electricity. Chefs who supervise the preparation of hundreds of meals a day just haven't time to wait for poky electric ranges to heat up or cool down.

These men and women whose reputations depend on their cooking choose

Gas ranges because Gas cooks better than electricity... makes food taste better and look more appetizing. The 1,001 shades of heat that only a modern Gas range can give lets them—and you—bake, broil, braise, saute, simmer or stew with complete control.

People who cook for a restaurant full of discriminating gourmets—and people who cook for a kitchen full of hungry kids—know they can count on Gas ranges to let them be the good cooks they are.

One of 'Girls Of Golden West' Dies

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Mrs. Raymond Motley, a former radio personality known as Dolly Good, who was one of the singing "Girls of the Golden West" in the 1930s and 1940s.

The "Girls of the Golden West" were featured on many programs in the heyday of radio.

Mrs. Motley, 51, retired from radio years ago and died Sunday at her home in this city where her husband is general manager of radio station WMOH. She and her sister Millie recorded for several major companies and appeared on such programs as the National Barn Dance from WLS, Chicago, and Midwestern Hayride of WLW, Cincinnati.

Millie Good is now Mrs. William McCluskey, wife of the director of client relations for WLWT. Mrs. Motley's other survivors include a son and a daughter.

The services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Klaus-Weigel Funeral Home.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, who says he is not interested in becoming president or vice president, is acting like a man who is.

He plans a five-day, 8,000-mile journey across the United States beginning Dec. 4.

On Dec. 4 he will accept the Man-of-the-Year Award from the American Vocational Association at Cleveland. The next day he will be in New York City, speaking at an Ohio industrial appreciation luncheon.

On Dec. 6, he goes to Dallas, Tex., to receive an award from the National Aviation Trade Association and then will be in Los Angeles Dec. 7 to speak at the annual meeting of the California Chamber of Commerce.

Then he will go to Palm Beach, Fla., for a three-day conference of the nation's Republican governors, returning to Ohio Dec. 9.

Such Pile Relief She Can't Describe Says Mrs. H. Williams

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Hugh Williams of Louisville writes: "A good person recommended Preparation H to me and such help I can't describe. I don't know what in the world I'd do without it!"

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

One of 'Girls Of Golden West' Dies

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Mrs. Raymond Motley, a former radio personality known as Dolly Good, who was one of the singing "Girls of the Golden West" in the 1930s and 1940s.

The "Girls of the Golden West" were featured on many programs in the heyday of radio.

Mrs. Motley, 51, retired from radio years ago and died Sunday at her home in this city where her husband is general manager of radio station WMOH. She and her sister Millie recorded for several major companies and appeared on such programs as the National Barn Dance from WLS, Chicago, and Midwestern Hayride of WLW, Cincinnati.

Millie Good is now Mrs. William McCluskey, wife of the director of client relations for WLW. Mrs. Motley's other survivors include a son and a daughter.

The services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Klaus-Weigel Funeral Home.

Rhodes Ready For 5-Day Trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, who says he is not interested in becoming president or vice president, is acting like a man who is.

He plans a five-day, 8,000-mile journey across the United States beginning Dec. 4.

On Dec. 4 he will accept the Man-of-the-Year Award from the American Vocational Association at Cleveland. The next day he will be in New York City, speaking at an Ohio industrial appreciation luncheon.

On Dec. 6, he goes to Dallas, Tex., to receive an award from the National Aviation Trade Association and then will be in Los Angeles Dec. 7 to speak at the annual meeting of the California Chamber of Commerce.

Then he will go to Palm Beach, Fla., for a three-day conference of the nation's Republican governors, returning to Ohio Dec. 9.

Such Pile Relief She Can't Describe Says Mrs. H. Williams

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Louisville, Ky. Mrs. H. Williams of Louisville writes: "A good person recommended Preparation H to me and such help I can't describe. I don't know what in the world I'd do without it!"

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Hanoi in Middle Of Sine Soviet Struggle

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A carefully polite North Vietnamese rebuff to Moscow last week hints that Hanoi is uncomfortably in the middle of a Soviet-Red Chinese struggle for influence.

The development could mean relatively little—but it could mean a good deal. If, as some Americans persist in thinking, the Soviet political leadership is actively interested in creating a climate for negotiations in Vietnam, it could indicate that fear of Peking plays an important role in Hanoi.

In connection with the celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution's 50th anniversary, the Supreme Soviet decreed the award of the Soviet Union's highest honor, the Order of Lenin, on Ho Chi Minh.

The decree said the award was in recognition, among other things, of President Ho's contributions to "the unity and solidarity of the socialist camp and the international Communist movement."

Longfellow May Get Brush Off

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A statue of Portland-born poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in the square here that bears his name is getting short shrift these days.

Since it was set up in 1888, the monument to the creator of "Hiawatha" has become a favored roost of pigeons and the butt of affectionate jokes.

A Portland women's group has protested reports the statue might be moved for street-widening. The city quickly denied any planned move.

But Public Works Director Thomas F. Griffin Jr. commented: "Since they're raising the point, I think it would be a pretty good idea. Henry's right in the way where he is."

Offer Teachers Year Round Jobs

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (AP) — The School Committee has offered about 40 of the town's 112 public school teachers year-round employment.

Teachers are now paid 10 months a year. The proposal, given to the North Andover Teachers Association for approval, would mean a pay increase of 15 per cent.

The School Board said the teachers would get four-week summer vacations, but would be expected to work vacations during the school year.

They would teach summer school and aid in school planning.

Long Dry Spell Ends in Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Fifty-eight years of prohibition against mixed drinks in Tennessee ended when John Chiles, a restaurant manager, poured a scotch and soda for a customer.

The 1967 Tennessee Legislature enacted a law allowing residents of the state's four largest counties to vote on sale of mixed drinks. Nashville residents approved the sale by 10,000 votes.

The Russians said the award "manifests our conviction that the parties and the people of our two countries will continue consolidating and developing our cooperation in the struggle against imperialism, as well as in peaceful creative labor." The decree itself described Ho as a staunch fighter for socialism and Soviet-Vietnamese friendship.

If Ho accepted the award on those terms, it could be considered tantamount to an endorsement of Soviet leadership of international communism and of the Soviet contention that unity is, in these days, a matter requiring urgent attention.

Hanoi quickly announced that Ho sent a reply to the Soviet party's central committee, telling of his "boundless emotion" on earning of the decree, but adding that in the circumstances of the Vietnam war, "my mind would not be at rest should I accept now the particularly great honor."

"For this reason," said the message, "while thanking you with all my heart, may I ask you to postpone the presentation of that infinitely high and noble award until the day our people have driven off the U.S. imperialist aggressors and completely liberated our fatherland. Then, on behalf of all my compatriots, shall receive with honor and joy the order bearing the name of the great Lenin."

The florid prose softened a reply which otherwise could be considered a sharp rebuff. Hanoi is not in a position to affront Moscow, whence comes the bulk of North Vietnam's economic and military support. But Ho's big neighbor, Red China, is looking on and likely would be irked should he accept an award from those Peking currently calls "revisionist renegades and scab."

Peking could view an award extended in the name of "unity" as support for Moscow of the notion that international communism must take steps to end the plinking process in the movement provided by Red China's dissidence.

What Peking thinks of those days the Chinese have been denouncing Soviet efforts to bring about a world Communist conference. They have accused the Soviet leadership of using the Bolshevik celebration as an excuse for calling "an anti-Communist, anti-China, antipeople counterrevolutionary sinister meeting of renegades and scabs" whose purpose would be to condemn China as the splitter of the movement.

Hanoi depends heavily on Moscow, but it depends in many respects on Peking as well. The reaction to the Moscow honor suggests it is having a difficult time staying on the fence.

More Talks Set In Transit Strike

CINCINNATI (AP)—Another session between negotiators for the Cincinnati Transit Co. and the Amalgamated Transit Union is set for today in an effort to end the 20-day-old bus strike.

No progress was reported after the negotiators met Saturday, but a company spokesman said the union's demands cannot be met without an increase in fares. City Council's Public Utilities Committee also met Saturday and appealed to both sides to come to terms soon.

The electric scoreboard in Houston's Astrodome stretches farther than a football field and requires five operators.

2nd Army Order Mixup Uncovered

LAKEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A former soldier who sat at home waiting for U.S. Army orders for 223 days in 1966 says the Army has billed him for $1,238 paid him during his extended absence.

John Brown, 24, said he went to the Army at least once a month during the period, trying to get the Army to solve the problem. He said everyone laughed at the mixup until he told them his hitch was up and he wanted out.

Then the post commander at nearby Ft. MacArthur found out about Brown's predicament.

"He thought I had done a real bad thing," Brown said. That weekend "I tried to tell him—and the record showed it—that I had been honest with the Army. I wanted to do what was right—but they couldn't seem to figure out what 'right' was."

Brown's dispute followed by a week the complaint of Pfc. Joseph A. Smith, who says he spent 18 months of his two-year Army hitch at home at Marysville, Calif., and now wants out of the Army.

Both Brown and Smith were home on leave, with orders to go to Vietnam. Both received instructions canceling previous orders and telling them to wait for further instructions.

Both said they waited and no further word came. Smith, a draftee, says he will go to court to get his discharge if the Army doesn't let him out.

The Army is testing Smith at San Francisco to determine what action it will take.

Brown said the Army finally gave him his discharge July 31, 1966, with the notation that he had taken 223 days excessive leave. He said he is credited for three years of service for GI benefits, though he actually served over five years. He also says the Army owes him $1,300 in back pay and allowances.

Bugged Wins $314,535 Garden Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Out of last Saturday's major thoroughbred race came two surprise winners, leaving it comparatively easy for the selector to pick the 1967 turf champion.

C.V. Whitney's Bugged, so lightly regarded that it took a $10,000 supplementary fee to get him into the race, beat 12 other 2-year olds in the $314,535 Garden State Stakes at Garden State Park.

Back of him came the only three horses who even had a chance of edging Ogden Phipps' Vitrolite out of the championship of the 2-year-old colt division. They were Iron Ruler, beaten a neck as the runner-up, Subpet in sixth place and T.V. Commercial in seventh position.

Proud Clarion, the Kentucky Derby winner on the comeback trail, lost whatever chance he had of title consideration by bowing to lightly regarded Mr. Right by one-half length in the $55,600 Queens County Handicap at Aqueduct.

It was a "must" game for Oakland, one the Raiders had to win to stay atop the Western Division standings in the American Football League. But the price they paid for it may have been too high.

Clem Daniels, their leading rusher and No. 4 in the league, and linebacker Bill Laskey went out with ankle injuries—Daniels possibly with a fracture—in the Raiders' 31-17 victory over Miami Sunday.

Ohio State fullback Jim Otis West Coast representative to

The 6-foot, 208-pound sophomore, showing there still is some life left in Coach Woody Hayes' fabled "three yards and a cloud of dust," picked up more rushing yardage than the whole Hawkeye offense as Ohio State belted Iowa 21-10.

In other top games on the Ohio college football scene Saturday:

Ohio Wesleyan captured a conference title and its first undefeated season in 14 years with a 24-12 victory over Denison, and Miami fullback Don Wade scored three touchdowns in leading the Redskins to a 27-14 triumph over arch-rival Cincinnati.

A crowd of 72,567 turned out for the Buckeyes' final home game, raising the season's attendance to 385,502 for five games. It was the lowest total attendance mark since the 1950 season.

Otis, who scored the Bucks' first touchdown on a seven-yard run, ground out 149 yard in 35 carries. Offensively, Iowa picked up only 132 yards rushing against the Buckeye line. Ohio State got 284 yard on the ground.

Ohio State boosted its record to 5-3 over-all and 4-2 in the Big Ten while Iowa fell to 1-7-1 and 0-5-1 in the loop.

Wesleyan signal caller Dick Cromwell ran for three short yardage touchdowns in the first half as the Battling Bishops sewed up the Ohio Conference title.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—San Fernando Valley State, 6-3 this year and tied for second in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, was named Sunday West Coast representative to the Junior Rose Bowl in Pasadena Dec. 2.

Denison's only scoring came from the conference's leading rusher, Bob Badami, who picked up two touchdowns and carried the ball 34 times for a total of 126 yards.

At Cincinnati, Miami's defense stymied the Bearcat ground attack while Wade was the Redskin workhorse, carrying the ball 34 times for 133 yards. Al Moore's 92-yard second half kickoff return also dented Cincinnati's spirit.

The Bearcats took an early 7-0 lead on a 45-yard touchdown bomb from quarterback Greg Cook to Jim O'Brien. The two later teamed up for Cincinnati's final touchdown on a 10-yard aerial.

The others: Kent State 31, Xavier 19; Bowling Green 17, Northern Illinois 7; Ohio Northern 6.

US Reaches Rose Bowl; Indiana a Question Mark

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Southern California Trojans kept their eyes on the flying ball, and it led them into the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal. ranked fourth nationally, realized the kicks of top-ranked UCLA's soccer-style placement specialist, Zenon Andrusyshyn, took a low trajectory.

The realization helped propel the Trojans to a 21-20 victory Saturday, a day when the line-up for the major bowl games began to take shape.

Elsewhere, Minnesota moved to within one game of nailing down the other Rose Bowl berth, Tennessee and Oklahoma earned unofficial invitation to the Orange Bowl and Wyoming and Louisiana State apparently made the Sugar Bowl.

Curt Wilson ran for four touchdowns and passed for another as Minnesota, 7-2 over-all, thrashed Indiana 33-7 and tied the Hoosiers in the Big Ten at 5-1.

If Indiana, 8-1 over-all, beats third-ranked Purdue, the Hoosiers will clinch the Rose Bowl berth even if Minnesota beats winless Wisconsin. Indiana would get the bid over Minnesota because the Hoosiers have never gone to the Rose Bowl.

Tailback Walt Chadwick ran for one TD and passed for another as Tennessee, ranked second and now 7-1, beat Mississippi 20-7. The Volunteers still have to get by lowly Vanderbilt and Kentucky to win their first Southeastern Conference crown since 1956.

Oklahoma, 7-1, rallied from a 10-0 deficit and clinched a tie for the Big Eight title with a 14-10 victory over Kansas. The Sooners won it on Bob Warrack's 30-yard TD pass to Steve Zabel.

Wyoming also had trouble before beating Texas-El Paso 21-19. Jerry DePoyster's second field goal of the game put the Cowboys ahead 21-19, and then they had to sweat out a ruling by the officials.

Jerry Waddles of Texas-El Paso tried a 45-yard field goal with 20 seconds left. One official ruled it was good, another ruled it missed. After a consultation, the try was ruled wide and Wyoming finished its regular schedule with a 10-0 mark. No other major college team has finished or can finish with an unbeaten record.

Tommy Morel caught three scoring passes as Louisiana State trounced Mississippi State 55-0. LSU is only 5-3, but the losses were by a total of seven points.

Alabama, 7-1-1, might have gained a trip to the Cotton Bowl with a 17-0 victory over South Carolina. Kenny Stabler hit Dennis Homan for a 38-yard TD pass—the first scoring pass completed against South Carolina this season.

The host spot for the Cotton Bowl still remains open, four teams still having a shot at the Southwest Conference championship and the bowl.

Texas A&M beat Rice 18-3 and leads the conference with a 5-1 mark and can win the title by beating Texas, upset 24-17 by Texas Christian Saturday, on Thanksgiving Day.

But there's still a chance for a four-way tie as Texas Tech, tied with Texas at 4-2, and TCU, 3-2, still are alive. Tech edged Baylor 31-29 on Kenny Vineyard's 37-yard field goal with 20 seconds left.

Florida kept its Gator Bowl hopes flickering by beating Kentucky 21-12. The Gators now 6-2, meet Florida State, 6-2-1, next Saturday, with the winner likely to go to the bowl.

In other big games Penn State trounced Ohio University 35-14, Yale won the Ivy League title by whipping Princeton 29-7, third-ranked Purdue topped Michigan State 21-7, North Carolina State was upset by Clemson 14-6, Notre Dame blasted Georgia Tech 36-3, and Oregon State nipped Oregon 14-10.

Browns Capture Rough, 14-10 Win From Minnesota

CLEVELAND (AP)—It really wasn't much of a game until the last 3 1/2 minutes.

Cleveland trailed by three points and Minnesota had the ball in Browns' territory. All they had to do was run out the clock. The Vikings fumbled. Cleveland recovered and 68,431 partly frozen fans perked up.

Then—Leroy Kelly scored with 28 seconds left for a 14-10 victory. (He scored the other touchdown earlier).

—Two fights started and two Browns were kicked out of the game.

—Cleveland moved into first place in the National Football League's Century Division because St. Louis lost.

"We were trying to run out the clock with the thought in mind of scoring if possible," said Vikings' Coach Bud Grant after Sunday's loss.

Dave Osborn tried left tackle with 3:35 left in the game. Minnesota led 10-7. Tackle Jim Kanicki was blocked out of the play but spun around as Osborn went by.

"It was perfect," said Kanicki. "There was the ball. I put my hand on him and I felt the ball and pulled it out of his hands."

Tackle Walter Johnson was on the spot. "Somebody hollered 'ball'," Johnson said. "That alerts you. I fell on the ball."

The Browns took over on their 47-yard line with 3:15 left. They went 53 yards in nine plays (including a 15-yard penalty against them) and Kelly got most of it on four carries. He dived three inches on his fifth try for the winning touchdown.

That's when the first fight started. There was some pushing and shoving, but nothing too serious. Jim Houston intercepted Ron Vanderkelen's pass on the first play after the Cleveland kickoff and the second fight got under way. The interception was nullified.

Johnson and Browns' defensive captain Paul Wiggin were both ejected. "One of the Vikings hit Walter square in the back," Wiggin said. "It was a blow that could have broken the back of a man 53 pounds lighter." Johnson, a wrestler off season, weighs 270 pounds. Johnson added: "I connected with a couple of punches."

Browns' Coach Blanton Collier said it was "a tough, nasty football game."

Colonels Trim Pipers, 103-102

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hawk soared, but not high enough to keep the Pittsburgh Pipers from being shot down by Jim Ligon.

Connie Hawkins made 14 field goals and 10 out of 10 foul shots for 38 points and Pittsburgh led with about a minute to go Sunday, but then Ligon sank two free throws with 16 seconds left to give the Kentucky Colonels a 103-102 victory.

Ligon finished with 26 points and Darrel Carrier added 21 as the Colonels snapped a five-game American Basketball Association losing streak.

In other ABA games, Houston downed Dallas 100-94, Oakland nipped Anaheim 102-100, and Minnesota edged Denver 97-96.

placement specialist, Zenon Andrusyshyn, took a low trajectory.

The realization helped propel the Trojans to a 21-20 victory Saturday, a day when the line-up for the major bowl games began to take shape.

Elsewhere, Minnesota moved to within one game of nailing down the other Rose Bowl berth, Tennessee and Oklahoma earned unofficial invitation to the Orange Bowl and Wyoming and Louisiana State apparently made the Sugar Bowl.

Curt Wilson ran for four touchdowns and passed for another as Minnesota, 7-2 overall, thrashed Indiana 33-7 and tied the Hoosiers in the Big Ten at 5-1.

If Indiana, 8-1 over-all, beats third-ranked Purdue, the Hoosiers will clinch the Rose Bowl berth even if Minnesota beats winless Wisconsin. Indiana would get the bid over Minnesota because the Hoosiers have never gone to the Rose Bowl.

Tailback Walt Chadwick ran for one TD and passed for another as Tennessee, ranked second and now 7-1, beat Mississippi 20-7. The Volunteers still have to get by lowly Vanderbilt and Kentucky to win their first Southeastern Conference crown since 1956.

Oklahoma, 7-1, rallied from a 10-0 deficit and clinched a tie for the Big Eight title with a 14-0 victory over Kansas. The Sooners won it on Bob Warmack's 30-yard TD pass to Steve Zabel.

Wyoming also had trouble before beating Texas-El Paso 21-19. Jerry DePoyster's second field goal of the game put the Cowboys ahead 21-19, and then they had to sweat out a ruling by the officials.

Jerry Waddles of Texas-El Paso tried a 45-yard field goal with 20 seconds left. One official ruled it was good, another ruled it missed. After a consultation, the try was ruled wide and Wyoming finished its regular schedule with a 10-0 mark. No other major college team has finished or can finish with an unbeaten record.

Tommy Morel caught three scoring passes as Louisiana State trounced Mississippi State 55-0. LSU is only 5-3-1, but the losses were by a total of seven points.

Alabama, 7-1-1, might have gained a trip to the Cotton Bowl with a 17-0 victory over South Carolina. Kenny Stabler hit Dennis Homan for a 38-yard TD pass—the first scoring pass completed against South Carolina this season.

The host spot for the Cotton Bowl still remains open, four teams still having a shot at the Southwest Conference championship and the bowl.

Texas A&M beat Rice 18-3 and leads the conference with a 5-1 mark and can win the title by beating Texas, upset 24-17 by Texas Christian Saturday, on Thanksgiving Day.

But there's still a chance for a four-way tie as Texas Tech, tied with Texas at 4-2, and TCU, 3-2, still are alive. Tech edged Baylor 31-29 on Kenny Vineyard's 37-yard field goal with 50 seconds left.

Florida kept its Gator Bowl hopes flickering by beating Kentucky 21-12. The Gators now 6-2, meet Florida State, 6-2-1, next Saturday, with the winner likely to go to the bowl.

In other big games Penn State trounced Ohio University 35-14, Yale won the Ivy League title by whipping Princeton 29-7, third-ranked Purdue topped Michigan State 21-7, North Carolina State was upset by Clemson 14-6, Notre Dame blasted Georgia Tech 36-3, and Oregon State nipped Oregon 14-10.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps plans to ask deferments from the Presidential Appeal Board for those volunteers who are called into military service before the end of their two-year overseas Peace Corps tour.

"The problem of induction notices to overseas volunteers, said Corps Director Jack Vaughn, is becoming a major concern for us. Pulling a volunteer off a productive job at mid-tour is unfair to the nation, to host country, the Peace Corps and the individual."

In the past the corps has merely confirmed to local boards that a man is in the corps.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson joined the Latin American diplomatic corps Sunday at the 58th annual Pan-American Mass and were greeted with warm words by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington.

Cardinal O'Boyle told the President: "We realize you have a very difficult task and we want you to know, sir, you not only have our understanding and our sympathy for the burden God has placed upon you, but also assurance of our prayers, day after day, that God may inspire you and help you."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is likely to launch a rocket equal or larger than Saturn 5 within a year or so, the chairman of the House Space Committee said Sunday.

Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., commented as he released a report prepared by the Science Policy Research Division of the Library of Congress.

The State Department has advised traveling Americans to stay away from Cyprus, where renewed fighting has broken out between native Greeks and Turks.

Some airlines have stopped serving cigarettes with meals, largely because of complaints by nonsmoking passengers and by physicians and congressmen who felt free service of cigarettes unduly encouraged smoking and added to possible health hazards.

Discontent Brews At Devaluation Of British Pound

LONDON (AP) — Repercussions to the 14.3 per cent devaluation in the British pound rolled around the world today, and bitter discontent brewed at home among Laborites, Conservatives and angry men-in-the street.

The government's announcement Saturday that the pound would be devalued from $2.80 to $2.40 provoked matching devaluations in Spain, Ireland, Denmark, Israel and the British colony of Hong Kong. Fifteen other nations said they were undecided, while other nations kept their currency's ratio to the U.S. dollar steady.

British salesmen stand to gain in countries that held fast. The government is in effect giving them a 14.3 per cent subsidy to undercut their competition, increase their profits or a combination of both.

Wilson's Conservative opposition reacted as expected. Tory leader Edward Heath charged that under Labor leadership Britain had been "reduced from a prosperous nation to an international pauper."

Conservatives spread word that they expected the entire government to resign and call new elections, but Wilson's Cabinet had been unanimous on devaluation and showed no sign of breaking up.

The devaluation was accompanied by a boost of the Bank of England's discount rate, which sets the pattern of interest rates in the sterling bloc, from 5 1/2 to 8 per cent.

This prompted the U.S. Federal Reserve Board to increase its discount rate from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent in an effort to keep U.S. dollars from going abroad to get higher interest rates.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps plans to ask deferments from the Presidential Appeal Board for those volunteers who are called into military service before the end of their two-year overseas Peace Corps tour.

"The problem of induction notices to overseas volunteers, said Corps Director Jack Vaughn, is becoming a major concern for us. Pulling a volunteer off a productive job at mid-tour is unfair to the nation, to host country, the Peace Corps and the individual."

In the past the corps has merely confirmed to local boards that a man is in the corps.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson joined the Latin American diplomatic corps Sunday at the 59th annual Pan-American Mass and were greeted with warm words by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington.

Cardinal O'Boyle told the President: "We realize you have a very difficult task and we want you to know, sir, you not only have our understanding and our sympathy for the burden God has placed upon you, but also assurance of our prayers, day after day, that God may inspire you and help you."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is likely to launch a rocket equal or larger than Saturn 5 within a year or so, the chairman of the House Space Committee said Sunday.

Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., commented as he released a report prepared by the Science Policy Research Division of the Library of Congress,

U.S. Population Tops 200 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was interrupted in the middle of a speech today by the recorded arrival of the nation's newest citizen — an unknown who raised the U.S. population figure above 200 million for the first time.

The interruption came at 11:04.15 a.m. EST when the census clock showed the United States had officially joined Communist China, India and the Soviet Union as the only nations with more than 200 million residents.

Johnson, who was posing challenges for America's third century and next 100 million persons, paused just in time to see the historic figure appear on the clock. An overflow crowd at the ceremony cheered and applauded.

The President said the nation faced three questions over and over during the past 200 years — "Shall we be a free nation?" "Shall we be one nation?" and "Shall we be a humane nation?"

We answered each of these questions once," Johnson said. "But once was not enough. They had to be answered again and again by each succeeding generation." He said each time the answer has always been the same: Yes.

"Now we are coming to grips with a fourth question," Johnson said. "It may be the hardest one we have ever tried to answer. It is this: Shall we be a great nation?"

"That is the question for the third century—and for the next hundred million Americans."

Stocks Drop, Then Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market more than halved its losses early this afternoon as it seemed to be weathering a big selling wave on news of Britain's devaluation of the pound and boosts in the interest rate by the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve Board. Trading was heavy.

At noon the Dow Jones industrial average was off 6.53 at 855.58, having sunk 14.96 to 847.15 in the first hour.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 3.5 to 307.2 with industrials off 4.4, rails off 2.1 and utilities off 2.2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange slumped sharply in heavy trading. Few gains appeared anywhere in the list.

U.N. To Hear China Debate

Doubt Peking Will Be Admitted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats expect the General Assembly's annual debate over whether to admit Communist China opening today, to end in defeat again for Peking Friends of Nationalist China say the vote against the Chinese Reds will be bigger than last year.

Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath was to introduce a resolution sponsored by 10 non-aligned and Communist countries seeking to substitute Communist China for Nationalist Chinese delegates in the United Nations and all related organizations.

Nationalist Chinese Foreign Minister Wei Tao-ming followed him on the list of speakers, defending his government against any such move.

The 122-nation assembly is expected to vote by Friday. Sources close to the Chinese delegation anticipate a vote of 59-45 against the pro-Peking resolution, a margin of 14. Last year it was 57-46, with other members abstaining. They said almost all the governments changing their stand are African.

President Johnson tried to stop any notion that the United States would devalue the dollar. He reaffirmed the U.S. commitment to buy and sell gold at the existing price of $35 an ounce. Only by raising the price could he devalue the dollar.
